

DOMINIK HARTL

Dominik Hartl was born on September 30th 1983 in Schladming, Austria. He studied directing and script-writing at the Film Academy Vienna, Austria, where he finished his bachelor-thesis film "VIENNA WAITS FOR YOU", a horror-comedy short, in spring 2012. The film won several awards and was screened by the most important Genre-Film Festivals around the globe. His first feature film "Beautiful Girl" (Allegro Film), a coming-of-age drama, will have it's cinematic release in October 2015.

Hartl is currently working on his second feature, the Zombie-Comedy "Attack of the Lederhosenzombies" (Fischer Film).

He also worked as an art-director for one of the biggest Austrian advertising companies. Besides his film-career, Hartl is also involved in several music-projects, where he plays the clarinet, saxophone, bass-guitar and synthesizers.
